

TEN YEARS LATER: BRINGING THEM HOME AND THE FORCED REMOVAL OF CHILDREN REGISTRATION FORM & TAX INVOICE

Personal Information

Title	Name
Last Name
Organisatio	n
Address
State & Post	tcode
Email
Telephone
☐ Full Fee		$120.00 (incl GST) $60.00 (incl GST)
Total Amou		$
Special Red I have the fo		s (eg accessibility, catering etc)
Payment (to I am paying		ntre - ABN 57 195 873 179)
☐ Cheque	□ Money Order □ \	/isa □ Mastercard
Credit Card	No
Expiry Date	Sign	ature
Cardholder

please return completed form with payment to:

Indigenous Law Centre Faculty of Law, UNSW Sydney 2052, Australia or fax to: 02 9385 1266 Registration will be confirmed when payment is received.

Cancellations made less than 7 days prior to the conference will incur a 25% fee.

Human Rights and Equal Opportunity Commission

The Human Rights and Equal Opportunity Commission (HREOC) was established in 1986 by an act of the federal Parliament. We are an independent statutory organisation and report to the federal Parliament through the Attorney-General. Our goal is to foster greater understanding and protection of human rights in Australia and to address the human rights concerns of a broad range of individuals and groups.

www.humanrights.gov.au

Crime and Justice Research Network

The Crime and Justice Research Network is a broadbased affiliation of academics, researchers and students with an interest in crime and justice issues. The CJR Network draws on the expertise in criminology and crime and justice-related fields across a range of faculties, schools and centres within the University.

www.cjrn.unsw.edu.au

Indigenous Law Centre

The Indigenous Law Centre was established in 1981 to develop and coordinate research, teaching and information services in the multi-disciplinary area of Indigenous peoples and the law. Our main objectives are to conduct research, participate in national and international law and policy discussion, develop curricula and teaching materials on Indigenous issues and foster student research.

www.ilc.unsw.edu.au

For more information about this conference please contact Denise Lester at the Indigenous Law Centre: denise.lester@unsw.edu.au or 02 9385 9623

Cover artwork: Fig Ginjara by Terrence (TAJ) Allen 800 x 900mm, Acrylic on canvas Artwork courtesy of Gamilarart Gallery Co-Operative Limited, web www.gamilarart.com.au

TEN YEARS LATER:

Bringing them home and the Forced Removal of Children

Presented b

Crime and Justice Research Network

Friday 28 September 2007 9 am to 5.30 pm The Barnet Long Room Customs House, Circular Quay, Sydney

TEN YEARS LATER:

Bringing them home and the Forced Removal of Children

In April 1997 the Human Rights and Equal Opportunity Commission released Bringing them home. The report followed a two-year National Inquiry into the Separation of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Children from Their Families.

It is now ten years since this landmark report was completed. Separate to the Inquiry, there has been over a decade and a half of litigation aimed at providing compensation for Indigenous people removed under previous government policies. Although there have been some successes, to date litigation has not provided a resolution to the harms caused by forcible removal.

The Indigenous Law Centre and the Crime and Justice Research Network at the UNSW, in conjunction with the Human Rights and Equal Opportunity Commission, are hosting a one-day conference to mark the tenth anniversary of Bringing them home.

The aim of the conference is to provide information and discussion on a number of key developments in the struggle for justice for Indigenous people affected by policies of forcible removal. These include:

- Discussion on litigation strategies including the recent successful Trevorrow case
- Reflections on the Bringing them home inquiry and an overview of government responses to the Bringing them home recommendations
- Community initiatives to deal with the long term effects of removal
- Discussion on reparations and compensation

 including the compensation scheme developed in Tasmania, and examples of 'stolen wages' compensation schemes in New South Wales and Queensland
- Discussion on the problem of the contemporary removal of Indigenous children and young people through child protection and juvenile justice agencies.

PROGRAM

8:00

8:55	Welcome to Country,
	Motropolitan Aboriginal Land Counc

9:00 The Bringing them home Inquiry

Registration opens

- Mr Tom Calma, Aboriginal & Torres Strait Islander Social Justice Commissioner, Human Rights & Equal Opportunity Commission
- Professor Mick Dodson, National Centre for Indigenous Studies, Australian National University
- Professor Robert Van Krieken, Department of Sociology and Social Policy, University of Sydney

Chair: Professor Chris Cunneen, NewSouth Global Chair in Criminology, University of New South Wales

10:20 Break

10:40 Litigation

- Jack Rush SC, Barrister, Victorian Bar
- Joanna Richardson, Legal Practitioner

11:40 Community Initiatives to Deal with Long Term Effects

- Alfred Davis, Lecturer, School of Human Services, Griffith University
- Helen Moran, National Sorry Day Committee
- Hannah McGlade, Sister Kate's Home Kids
- John Bond, Stolen Generations Alliance

Chair: Emeritus Professor Garth Nettheim, Faculty of Law, University of New South Wales

1:20 Break

2.20 Reparations and Compensation

- Michael Mansell, Legal Director, Tasmanian Aboriginal Centre
- Robin Banks, Director, Public Interest Advocacy Centre
- Andrea Durbach, Associate Professor and Director, Australian Centre for Human Rights, Faculty of Law, University of New South Wales

3.40 Afternoon Tea

4.00 Contemporary Removals of Indigenous Children and Young People

- Terri Libesman, Senior Lecturer,
 Faculty of Law, University of Technology
 Sydney
- Professor Chris Cunneen, New South Global Chair in Criminology, University of New South Wales
- Associate Professor Helen Milroy,
 Director, Centre for Aboriginal Medical and Dental Health, University of Western Australia

Chair: Ms Megan Davis, Director, Indigenous Law Centre and Senior Lecturer, Faculty of Law, University of New South Wales

5.20 End

5.30 Drinks